Every team needs a guy to keep things light. Baseball can wear you down if you don't laugh. That guy for the Rams was Jack Clemente. With arguably the best hair in the league, and a world record warm up routine, once he stepped on the mound the joking was over and it was all business. Jack will continue his baseball career and education At LaSalle University and then on to play professionally for anyone but the Yankees! Don't lose the flow and always keep it light Jack! Thanks for making us laugh. You'll be missed!

Jack Clemente, OF, DH, SS, C, P, son of Lynne and Ben Clemente

Adam Hoover is the type of guy you want on your team. He's a quiet worker and a true "I'll do what's best for the team" kinda player. Hoov is an avid fisherman and a hunter and will continue his baseball career and education at Central Penn College. After that, if you need flooring, he's your man, since he will be running Central PAs most successful flooring business! Thanks for being the right kind of player Adam, and good luck at Central Penn. The Rams were lucky to have you and the Knights are too!

Adam Hoover, 3B, C, son of Patti and Bryan Hoover

When one of your hobbies is lifting, you're setting yourself up for success and confidence in life. That's Scotty McManamon for you. His drive and work ethic is easy to see in the way he prepares, practices, and plays. And it's helped him reach his goal of playing college baseball for Clarion University. Upon graduation, he will proceed to play professionally for the Yankees or maybe an even better team! Always a quiet leader, Scotty is going to be missed. Keep slinging the iron and never quit working Scotty! We know you won't.

Scotty McManamon, 3B, SS, P, son of Scott and Amy McManamon

In a sport where team chemistry is such a key you need guys to develop that chemistry. Teegan Starr is one of those guys. We always say be the most liked guy on the team and you could argue that is Teegan. He will continue his education and career next year at York College for the Spartans. He will study finance to prepare himself for one day owning a professional sports team. Keep being well liked Teegan. Keep working hard and don't look back! York is lucky to have you but the Rams will miss you.

Teegan Starr, P, OF, son on Michelle and Scott Starr

Need a guy with passion? Need a guy that will have your back? Need a guy to break down a huddle in the craziest, loudest, most obnoxiously and hilarious at the same time way? Big Daddy J Mill is your guy! Penn State York baseball is lucky to be getting him and eventually the PA State Police will be too! God help any criminal that comes face to face with him! They won't have a chance! Justin, thanks for making those of us who stood by you in the huddle deaf in one ear as you yelled "Rams on 3" as only you could. And thanks for the laughs, the love of baseball you brought to the field and for having your teammates backs. Don't change a thing. We will miss you Big Daddy!

Justin Miller, 1B, DH, son of Kevin Miller and Beth Hollenbach

Strong. Quiet. Coachable. Respectful. Motivated. Even keel. And who could forget the excellent hair! Justin Fleig was all of these traits and more. A true example of Ram baseball ideals. Every time he stepped on the field you knew what you'd get. 100% effort and nothing less. A true desire to help his team. He will carry these traits to Wilson College next fall to play baseball and study business but will one day be directing aircraft as an air traffic controller! Justin, thanks for who you are and for being a model team player. You're going to be missed.

Justin Fleig, OF, son of Jayme and Diane Fleig

Role Model - That's who Christopher Smith is. Smitty almost walked away from baseball at one point and we are all glad he didn't, but there's one very special 9 year old named Brady Zellers who is lucky to have gotten to call him his buddy! When he's not on the ball field he's either hunting or fishing or spending time in the woods somewhere and it's almost a guarantee that Luke Bryan wrote Huntin', fishin', lovin' about Christopher. He plans to study education next year at Penn State Harrisburg and will eventually captain a commercial tuna fishing vessel in hopes of appearing on Wicked Tuna! Thanks for be a great role model to young guys and a true team player. Gonna miss ya Smitty!

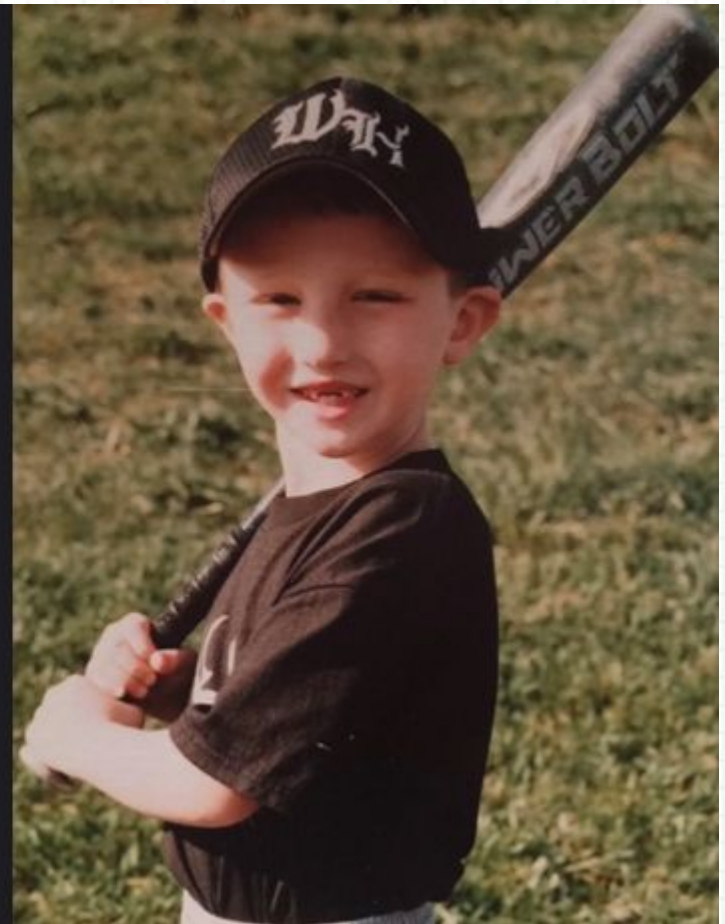

Christopher Smith, 1B, son of Robyn and Chris Smith

Brady Cullen was going to help us win. As an outfielder. As a base runner. Any way possible. You could see it in the way he practiced. He will take this same desire to play at Penn State Mont Alto next year while pursuing a career in international business. Attack the business world like you attack the bases Brady! You'll be great and just remember, lions don't need to tell other animals they're lions. We will miss you BC.

Brady Cullen, OF, son of Sean and Nichole Cullen

If you look up "gamer" in the dictionary, you'll likely see Murphy's face. Not too many players want it more than Murph, who will join the Flying Dutchmen of Lebanon Valley College next year. After that you'll catch him someday on NBC or Fox as an NFL Analyst! If younger guys want to know how it's done, just do what Murph did. Thanks for the example Ryan! You will be missed.

Ryan Murphy, OF, P, son of Todd and Beth Murphy

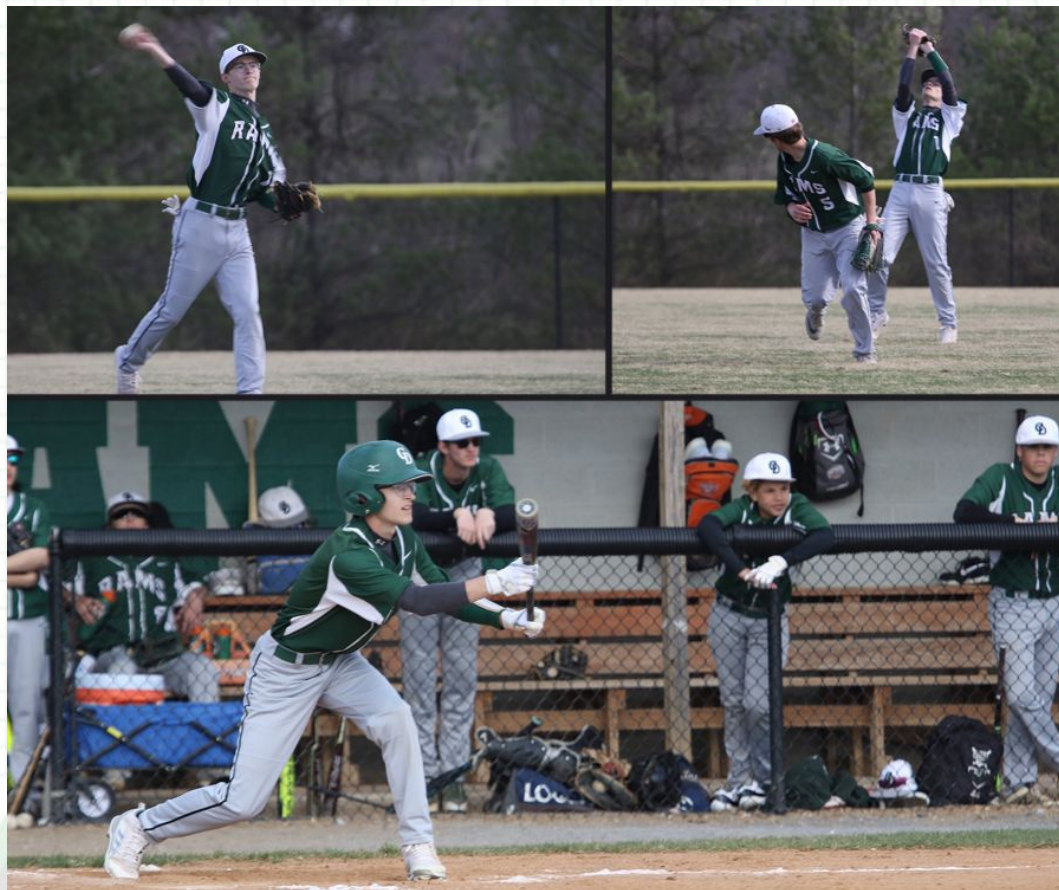

One word - GRIT. Jason has battled through serious adversity in the past few years and has done so with nothing but a positive attitude. He plans on attending Shippensburg University in the fall with aspirations of participating in the ROTC program. One day he would love to be a US Army Green Beret, and there are no doubts he will do it! Thank you Jason for being an inspiration and showing us how to never give up. We'll miss you.

Jason Abbott, OF, son of Jason and Annette Abbott

Adversity plays a big role in shaping who we are as people. It's how you react to the adversity that says a lot about your character. Matt has overcome a great deal of adversity and has come out on the other side much stronger. The Rams are excited to announce that Matt has enlisted in the United States Navy and will be shipping out on October 5. Baseball is a great sport to teach the discipline needed to be a member of our great nation's armed forces. We know you'll continue to represent the green and white with pride. Keep working hard Matt and thank you for choosing to serve the United States of America!

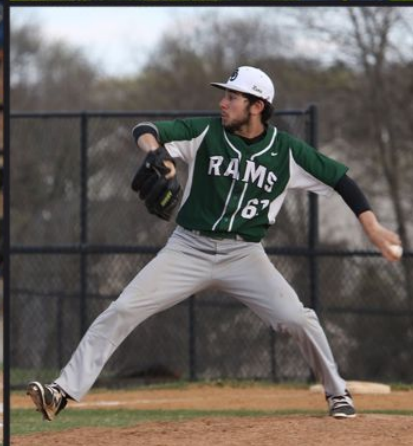

Matt Ricard, C, son of Lori and Kevin Ricard
